From the DocuHome Founder & CEO, Bradford Stanley...

DocuHome's beginning arose from a catastrophic fire that completely destroyed my Malibu home and my families personal property. I assumed we would get a check from our insurance company for our personal property and move forward. Our insurance adjuster informed us in order to receive any claim compensation we needed to provide documentation proving these items existed in our home.

After spending over 6 months dealing with this, the "DocuHome" moment hit me, I realized "maybe things do happen for a reason." It's time to use my knowledge from helping Fortune 500 companies develop software applications to help homeowners with a solution that can turn the daunting task of creating a home inventory into hours... not weeks or months!
